

IMPLEMENTATION OF AIB BYLAWS REGARDING THE ALAN M. RUGMAN YOUNG SCHOLAR AWARD COMMITTEE

In accordance with AIB Bylaws Article VII Section 1.d, there shall be a standing committee called the Alan M. Rugman Young Scholar Award Committee. The following guidelines shall apply:

1. The Alan M. Rugman Young Scholar Award was originally called the Haynes Prize (named after Eldridge Haynes, founder of Business International, Inc.). The award was renamed the Alan M. Rugman Young Scholar Award through an AIB Executive Board decision (Motion AIB-EBM 2015.06).
2. The award is given out every year to a paper that must have been accepted for presentation at the AIB Annual Meeting through a double-blind-review process, and have been written by an author or authors under 40 years of age to recognize research excellence by promising young scholars.
3. One nominated paper is identified for each regular conference track by the Conference Program Committee. All nominees must meet the age criteria and have to attend the AIB Annual Meeting to present their papers. The winner(s) should try to be present at the Awards Ceremony to personally receive the award.
4. The winner is selected by the Alan M. Rugman Young Scholar Award Committee. The committee shall consist of four members successively appointed by the sitting committee members at that time and the departing chair of the committee, under the guidance of the AIB Executive Board and the Secretariat. New committee members should be selected paying particular attention to the geographic and scholarly diversity of the committee.
5. Membership of the committee shall rotate every year. After the AIB Annual Meeting, at which the prize is conferred, the senior member of the committee (who has just completed his/her term as chair) shall step down. A new member is then appointed. Thus, each year one new member and a new chair are appointed to the committee; and the most senior member of the committee becomes chair unless circumstances necessitate another arrangement.
6. The winner of the Award shall receive a plaque and a cash award. The exact amount of the award is determined each year by the AIB Foundation and announced publicly at the time of paper submissions. The name of the winner shall be kept confidential until the announcement at the Award Ceremony.

Approved Unanimously by AIB Executive Board on June 26, 2015.