We welcome you to the 41st Annual Meeting of the Academy of International Business. This year, we enjoy the beautiful city of Charleston and the fabulous venue of the Charleston Place hotel. The 1999 Program Chair Stefanie Lenway, University of Minnesota, has worked closely with her dedicated staff, Larry Katzenstein and Karen Leigh, and track chairs, Peter Smith Ring, Tina Dacin, Nakiye Boyacigiller, Mary Yoko Brannen, Bernard Yeung, Mike Houston, Bodo Schlegelmich, and Steen Thomsen, to put together a comprehensive look at The Janus Face of Globalization. Jeff Arpan, Kelly Durkan Bean, Tina Poindexter, and Amy Lantz at the University of South Carolina's Darla Moore School of Business have worked hard to make our meeting in Charleston a memorable event. We thank all those at the University of Minnesota, the University of South Carolina, and the University of Hawai'i who have supported the AIB throughout the planning of this event.

We especially thank you for participating in this meeting in the historical city of Charleston. We hope that you will take home fond memories of the experience and a wealth of cutting-edge information on globalization. Please do not hesitate to share your insights and ideas for improving the AIB annual meetings. This is your organization and your input is very valuable to us.

Have a great time in Charleston!

Message from the Program Staff...

Greetings from HQ in Minneapolis. The AIB 1999 program staff: Program Chair Stefanie Lenway, Program Coordinator Larry Katzenstein, and Program Administrator Karen Leigh all welcome you to the last Academy of International Business meeting of the millennium. With the high quality and tremendous variety of this year's submissions, we have been able to put together a dynamic and intellectually challenging program. We look forward to greeting you all personally in Charleston.

To help you get oriented, we would like to point out some of the highlights of the program.

For the plenary sessions, as in previous years, we are very fortunate to have some senior scholars in international business and top managers of some of the major U.S. MNCs who are eager to share their perspectives on the changing nature of global business. On Saturday afternoon, the AIB Fellows will recognize the work of Richard Caves in a panel that will focus on Caves' contribution to International Management research. On Sunday morning, the opening plenary of the conference includes Yves Doz, Lorraine Eden, Steven Kobrin, and John Stopford. They will each offer some provocative comments on the conference theme and identify some issues for us to reflect on during the remainder of our time together in Charleston.

During the Sunday evening plenary we will celebrate the many contributions and achievements of one of the pioneering scholars in International Business, Ray Vernon (1913-1999). Working together with Ray Vernon, we organized a panel that has as its focus the themes raised in his new book, In the Hurricane's Eye. We are very saddened that he will not be with us. Although we cannot make up for his absence, we will reflect on the many ways in which his work has influenced our research and teaching of international business today.

Monday morning, C.K. Prahalad will offer his thoughts on the future of global business. Ron Mitsch, the former Vice-Chairman and Executive Vice President of 3M will join him. Dr. Mitsch played an instrumental role in 3M's global expansion. Monday evening, we return again to consider the dark side of globalization with a session organized by AIB's president, Jose de la Torre, which will include talks by Dave Korten, Moises Naim, and David Maybury-Lewis. These speakers will challenge some of our notions of globalization from an economic, political and anthropological perspective. The final plenary session on Tuesday morning has been organized by Mahmood A. Zaidi from the University of Minnesota and will feature Ernest S. Micek, Chairman of Cargill, Ronald O. Baukol, Executive Vice President for International Operations, 3M, Marilyn Carlson, Chairman and CEO of the Carlson Companies, and Art Collin, President of Medronics, Inc. The concluding conference activity on Tuesday afternoon will be a Southern plantation event including Southern music, dancing, and a "lowcountry" style luncheon, at the Boone Hall Plantation hosted by the University of South Carolina, which is not to be missed.

In addition to the plenary sessions, there will be competitive paper sessions, workshop sessions, poster sessions, and symposia. The competitive paper sessions address some of the cutting edge issues in international business research. In the workshop sessions the discussions will be more interactive and focus on how to deal with obstacles that plague all of us before we conveniently forget all of the hard work that went into a finished piece of research. The poster sessions provide us all with an opportunity to individually interact with AIB colleagues who are defining the next generation of international business research. The papers will be grouped by themes so that the presenters will also have a chance to meet colleagues pursuing research on related topics. Both poster sessions will be catered to encourage good conversation. Symposia on special topics are scheduled throughout the conference. After the awards banquet on Monday afternoon, we have scheduled a "symposia fest," which consists of eight concurrent symposia from which to choose on topics which range from the new UNCTAD World Investment Report to Reforming the International Financial Architecture to Perspectives on NAFTA after Five Years.

We could not have put this program together without lots of outside help. We would first like to thank the Carlson School of Management of the University of Minnesota for their financial support for the program. We would also like to especially thank the track chairs for their help with the review process and with putting together the program. The AIB-1999 track chairs include Peter Smith Ring, Tina Dacin, Nakiye Boyacigiller, Mary Yoko Brannen, Bernard Yeung, Mike Houston, Bodo B. Schlegelmilch, and Steen Thomsen.

Finally, we would like to thank our gracious hosts from the University of South Carolina.

We hope that you will share in our excitement about AIB-1999.

Welcome to Charleston!

GREETINGS

On behalf of the State of South Carolina, I am pleased to extend a warm welcome to each of you as you gather for the 41st annual meeting of the Academy of International Business.

With more than 600 faculty from around the world, this year's meeting promises to be a unique learning experience for each participant. As the leading association of scholars and specialists in the field of international business, the Academy of International Business fosters education and advances professional standards by facilitating the exchange of information and ideas among people in academic, business, and government professions. Encouraging activities that advance knowledge in international business increases the available body of teaching material and helps to ensure that young people have the skills necessary to compete for jobs in the global marketplace. All South Carolinians join me in thanking you for your many contributions to the future success of our nation's young people.

I would like to invite those of you who are visiting with us for the first time to explore the many historical, cultural and recreational opportunities that the Palmetto State has to offer. Charleston is one of the truly great cities of the South and has contributed immeasurably to the rich heritage of our state and nation. I hope you have an opportunity to enjoy Charleston's wide variety of fine cuisine, highly rated golf courses, and sandy beaches. Once you've experienced our distinctively Southern approach to living, I know you will want to take advantage of my standing invitation to visit us again soon.

I offer my warmest wishes for an enjoyable meeting and I hope that you will let me know if I may ever be of assistance to you.

Dear Members of the Academy of International Business:

On behalf of the citizens of the City of Charleston, I would like to take this opportunity to extend a warm welcome to you on the occasion of the 1999 Annual Meeting of the Academy of International Business. We are pleased and honored that you have chosen Charleston for this important meeting.

Charleston is a special and unique city. Travel & Leisure magazine ranked Charleston as one of the top 25 World's Best Cities. Successful Meetings magazine called Charleston "America's favorite small city ... impeccably intact, with cobblestone streets, gaslit street lamps and antebellum homes. The city also offers chic, modern shops, superior accommodations, fine meeting facilities and some of the best restaurants in the South!" Be assured that Charleston will give you its full support to insure a successful meeting experience. We are extremely proud of our city and hope you will find the time to enjoy its beauty and charm.

My very best wishes for a successful meeting and a wonderful visit to our beautiful city.

Most sincerely yours,

Joseph P. Riley, Jr.
Mayor, City of Charleston

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA

HEY Y'ALL...

On behalf of the University of South Carolina's Darla Moore School of Business, I extend to you a warm, southern welcome to South Carolina and the 1999 Annual Meeting of the Academy of International Business. We are pleased and honored to be the host institution for this event, and are delighted that you chose to participate in it.

The city of Charleston is truly a special, unique and historic site and we are confident that it will provide a number of memorable experiences for you. And while there are many things you can experience on your own, we encourage you to attend a truly southern cultural event at the historic Boone Hall Plantation this Tuesday afternoon. There will be southern cuisine and beverages, beach music and "shag" dancing, historic spirituals, tours of the plantation home, and other opportunities to observe and experience interesting aspects of the southern culture.

We sincerely hope you will enjoy your visit to Charleston, South Carolina, and the 41st Annual Meeting of the AIB. "Y'all come back, now, hear!"

Jeffrey Arpan, Chairman and
James F. Kane Professor of International Business

Caucus Meetings in Charleston

Don't miss the after-hour caucuses in Charleston this year. Three or four meeting rooms will be reserved for an hour or so in the evening after the regular Sunday and Monday sessions are finished. The participants will select various discussion topics and allocate a different topic to each room. Interested participants will enjoy a lively unstructured discussion centered on topics that interest them.

If you would like to suggest topics for these informal meetings, please send them to Laurel King at the AIB Secretariat by e-mail aib@cba.hawaii.edu or by fax 808-956-3261. Once the meeting commences, please give your written suggestions for discussion topics to Tina Poindexter or Kelly Durkan Bean at the AIB reception desk or office.

See you in Charleston!

JOURNAL OF INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS STUDIES
SYMPOSIUM ON
MULTINATIONALS: THE JANUS FACE OF GLOBALIZATION

(In memory of Raymond Vernon)

DEADLINE FOR SUBMISSION: June 1, 2000

Guest Editors

Lorraine Eden (Texas A&M University) and Stefanie Lenway (University of Minnesota)

Focus of the Symposium

Globalization presents both opportunities and threats: opportunities in the sense of economic abundance, freedom of political expression and cultural diversity; threats in the form of economic insecurity, political instability and cultural decay. The key agent of globalization is the multinational enterprise (MNE). Spanning the globe, its affiliates and strategic partnerships linking countries, multinationals are the embodiment and principal agent of globalization. Thus, the MNE is Janus, the two-faced symbol of globalization.

The JIBS Symposium on Multinationals: The Janus Face of Globalization will focus on the changing nature of MNE-government relations in a globalizing world economy. The following, while not exhaustive, are potential topics for the Symposium:

- How are multinationals and governments attempting to reconcile the opportunities of globalization with the need for social and economic adjustments to facilitate the abilities of individuals and countries to enjoy these opportunities?
- How are MNE-government relations changing as we move into the 21st century? How do these differ from past relations and across different countries and regions of the world? Are relations becoming more cooperative or conflictual? What roles do institutions and the political, social and cultural environment play?
- Is the obsolescing bargain model an appropriate theoretical model for analyzing MNE-state relations in a global economy? What new theoretical lenses can IB and IPE scholars use to understand MNEs as the Janus face of globalization?
- How must the international strategies of MNEs change in order to increase opportunities for citizens of developed and developing countries who are not prepared for the rigors of globalization?

- How is regulation of MNEs changing, at the national and international levels, to address issues raised by the darker side of globalization?

We are interested in both conceptual papers and rigorous empirical work. Case studies may be appropriate if they have a strong theoretical foundation or contribute to theory development. Interdisciplinary studies (e.g., linking international political economy and international business perspectives) and cross-country comparative studies are particularly welcome.

Submission Guidelines

The deadline for submission for the Symposium is June 1, 2000. Please follow the JIBS Submission Guidelines and Style Guide for Authors in the back of the Journal's most recent issue or on the JIBS website at <http://www.jibs.net>; however, please submit four rather than two hard copies of your manuscript. Cover letters should request that papers be specifically considered for this Symposium. All submissions will be double-blind reviewed in accord with JIBS's normal review process and criteria. Submissions should be directed to:

The Managing Editor, Journal of International Business Studies, 3240 Prospect Street, NW, Washington, DC 20007 USA. Tel: (202) 944-3755. Fax: (202) 944-3762. E-mail: jibs@msb.edu

AIB 2000

Annual Meeting • November 17-20, 2000 Pointe Hilton Resort at Tapatio Cliffs • Phoenix, Arizona

In Search Of Relevance For International Business Research: Impact On Management And Public Policy

Conference Theme

“In Search of Relevance for International Business Research: Impact on Management and Public Policy” is the overall theme for the 2000 Annual Meeting of the Academy of International Business. Scholarship in any discipline is ultimately judged by its impact on practice as well as public policy. While advancing the theoretical and conceptual foundations of the international business discipline, scholars must also be concerned about: (a) the relevance of their research for management action; (b) applicability of their research frameworks and objectives to business situations; and (c) usefulness of their research findings for enhancing business practice and public policy making.

The 2000 meeting of the Academy of International Business will provide an opportunity for critically examining the relevance and impact of international business scholarship for business practice and public policy. In addition, the meeting will aim at: (a) showcasing the best international business research with managerial and public policy implications; and (b) sharing industry, corporate, and public sector-sponsored research with participants. It is hoped that the meeting provides an occasion for meaningful, intellectual exchange with thoughtful members of the business (banking, consulting, and others) and public policy (international agencies, government agencies, etc.) communities. The meeting will also serve as a forum for various stakeholder groups in international business research to discuss present and future collaboration.

The annual meeting is scheduled for November 17-20, 2000, at the Pointe Hilton Resort at Tapatio Cliffs in Phoenix, Arizona. S. Tamer Cavusgil, the Program Chair, invites your participation in the program. He will work with an international program committee in developing the final agenda.

The deadline for receipt of competitive papers and proposals for other sessions is March 6, 2000. We invite proposals that address the conference theme. The following topics are illustrative:

- Global consolidation of industries such as pharmaceuticals, autos, and telecoms
- International collaborative ventures, mergers and acquisitions
- Studies exploring corporate decisions, strategy, and performance in the global marketplace
- Benchmarking and corporate best practices in global operations

- Global competitiveness of firms, industries, and nations
- Global competitive intelligence
- Global coordination and standardization strategy
- Global account management and global branding

Research based on both primary as well as secondary data analysis is of interest.

In addition to scholars of international business research, submissions are invited from a wide variety of groups including:

- Benchmarking and other consortia
- Corporate research departments
- Consulting firms, think tanks, foundations, banks
- International agencies (World Bank, United Nations, World Trade Organization, International Trade Center, etc.)
- Governmental agencies (United States Trade Representative, U.S. Department of Commerce, state agencies, etc.)

Conference Tracks

In addition to papers and proposals related to the conference theme, we invite submissions addressing a variety of international business issues. The conference will feature a variety of formats including plenary sessions, competitive paper sessions, workshops, panels, and poster sessions. Submissions will be categorized into six tracks. In each track, preference will be given to presentations that incorporate the conference theme. All submissions will be evaluated on a broader set of criteria.

For purposes of reviewing, submissions will be categorized into 5 tracks:

- Track 1: Corporate strategy
- Track 2: Marketing and supply chain management
- Track 3: Economics, finance, accounting
- Track 4: Institutional sociology and political science
- Track 5: Organizational behavior and human resources management
- Track 6: Business history

General Submission Requirements

There are five types of meeting formats: plenary sessions, competitive paper sessions, workshops, panels, and poster sessions. We place a priority on submissions that address the conference theme and those that seek to address interdisciplinary issues of academic and practical importance.

All proposals will be subjected to a double-blind review process. Competitive papers should be less than 30 pages, inclusive of references, figures, and tables. Papers submitted for these sessions must be essentially in final form. Poster papers should be less than 20 pages, inclusive of all. Panel proposals must be submitted by the proponent and chair of the panel and include a statement of what the main issues are and how each panel member plans to tackle these issues (discussants need only be listed). Signed letters (faxes and e-mail are allowed) from each presenter, showing evidence that they will participate, are required.

All submissions must be received at the address shown below by March 6, 2000 and must comply with the following requirements:

- Clearly label for which type of session and track the papers/proposals are being submitted on the upper right-hand corner of the title page.
- The cover page must include the name, address, telephone and fax numbers, and e-mail addresses of the authors. Please identify the contact author for correspondence.
- Please include three key words at the end of the abstract.
- The second page must include the title of the paper and the abstract, but not the author's identity.
- Include a postage-paid self-addressed postcard for acknowledging receipt of paper/proposal submission. For international submissions, postage can be waived.
- Include two 5 x 8 index cards with the title of your paper, contact author's name, address, phone, fax, and e-mail address centered on the card.
- Papers/Proposals must be double-spaced with margins of one inch (2.5 cm) and printed in a font size of 11 points or larger. Paper length requirements are explained above. Other standards regarding citations, endnotes, abstract, etc., must follow JIBS requirements.
- Submit four (4) copies. Electronic submissions are not acceptable.

The Venue and Dates

2000 Annual Meeting of the Academy of International Business travels to Phoenix, Arizona. The conference will be held 17-20 November 2000, at the Pointe Hilton Resort at Tapatio Cliffs. The American Graduate School of International Management (Thunderbird - AGSIM) will be our host school.

Prospective attendees should note that the conference will take place prior to one of the year's busiest air travel periods (the weekend before Thanksgiving), and at one of the most popular tourist destinations in the United States. Reserve your flights ahead of time for your preferred dates of travel.

Registration

Conference registration information will be available from the AIB Executive Secretariat in early 2000. For information or registration forms contact:

Phoenix

Visitors to Phoenix, the nation's premiere desert city, are faced with the difficult choice of fitting in many alternative activities into their schedule. These include a Grand Canyon Tour, golf, tennis, hot air balloon rides, desert jeep rides, and visits to Native American reservations. Get ready for fiery sunsets, challenging sports, and a distinctive southwestern heritage that preserves the rich diversity of Native American, Hispanic, Anglo, African American, and Asian American cultures.

The Southwest's wonderful weather and inviting sunshine make Arizona the perfect place to vacation or to live. Winter temperatures in the Phoenix area are mild, with cool mornings warming to pleasant afternoons. Summers are hot and dry. The Sonoran desert is the perfect backdrop for the Phoenix area's championship golf courses and first-class resorts. Northern Arizona's cooler climate, pine forests, ski resorts, and the spectacular Grand Canyon are three to four hours away by car. A half-day drive to the south passes through desert vegetation to the city of Tucson and the Mexican border, gateway to Latin America.

The Phoenix metropolitan area is the seventh largest city in America, attracting major corporations such as Motorola, Allied Signal, Honeywell, and the Dial Corp. Arizona is also the home to professional hockey, football, basketball, and baseball teams. As you would expect from a city of this size, it is culturally rich, offering venues for operas, plays, symphonies, concerts, and numerous art galleries and museums. Arizona's diversity makes it a popular choice for business and pleasure alike.

Host School

Thunderbird, The American Graduate School of International Management, is the world's oldest and largest graduate school of international management. Thunderbird today enrolls almost 1,500 graduate students, who represent about 80 nations. Professor Robert Grosse of Thunderbird serves as our principal liaison.

Thunderbird's unique approach to international business education is based on a three-part curriculum, which includes instruction in global business, international politics, and modern languages. The faculty is composed of 110 scholars representing the departments World Business, International Studies, and Modern Languages.

Thunderbird operates extensive executive education programs for working managers, which each year draw participation from more than 3,500 business leaders from around the world. In addition to its main campus in Glendale, the school has educational facilities in France, Japan, Russia, and China, as well as a distance learning degree program that serves Mexico, Peru, and Ecuador. Thunderbird's 31,000 alumni live and work in every state in the U.S. and in more than 133 nations.
