

Andrew Delios

Andrew Delios is Professor and Head in the Department of Strategy and Policy, and incoming Vice-Dean MSc Programs, at NUS Business School. His research looks at strategy, governance and global competition in emerging economies, with a particular focus on international business issues for companies operating in East and Southeast Asia. Andrew has authored more than 100 journal articles, case studies and book chapters, as well as six books. He has been an Editor for several leading journals. From 2011-2013, Andrew served as the President of the Asia Academy of Management. He became a Fellow of the Academy of International Business in 2013. He completed his Ph.D. in 1998 at the Richard Ivey School of Business, Western University of Ontario.

Andrew has worked and lived in Asia for more than 24 years, including three years in Hong Kong and two in Japan. He has also worked in Australia, Canada, China, Finland, India, Mexico, Myanmar, New Zealand, the Philippines, Sweden, Thailand, Vietnam and the United States. At NUS, he has taught in numerous programs, including executive programs and the Executive MBA program in Australia, India, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand and Vietnam. He was done consulting and educational engagements with organizations such as DBS and SIAEC (Singapore), BCA Bank (Indonesia), Awba Group (Myanmar), Thai Beverages (Thailand), Bank of China, and Aditya Birla (India, Thai Subsidiary). He was an owner and director in Belgarath Investments Limited, a company that was engaged in international franchising in Asia, both as a franchisee and franchisor, with such brands as Chili's, Subway and Sarpino's Pizza. He is currently engaged with a start-up in the retail and property sectors in Vietnam.