Public Transportation
Warsaw is a tourist-friendly city that you can easily explore on foot or by public transportation.

Tickets are easy to buy from ticket machines available on most buses, trams, metro station entrances, and newsstands. You can use the ticket machines in five languages (Polish, English, German, Russian, and Ukrainian) and pay for your ticket with cash or a credit card.

You can use a local app called JAKDOJADE for directions and public transport options, but Google Maps also works well. It is also possible to buy mobile tickets with this app.

Ticket options:
- Single ticket: 3.40 PLN (for trips less than 20 minutes) or 4.40 PLN (for longer trips)
- 1-day ticket: 26 PLN (24 hour from validation)
- 3-day ticket: 57 PLN
- Weekend ticket: 24 PLN (7pm Friday-8am Monday)

Tickets must be validated immediately after boarding a bus or tram, or at the gates leading to metro platforms.

A step-by-step guide with photos is available at:

Other Options
UBER and BOLT are popular, convenient, and quite affordable throughout Warsaw.

If you prefer taxis, you can book one using the FREE NOW app, or by calling the phone numbers on the left.

Warsaw also has a public bike system, with the first 20 minutes free. You can use the VETURIFO (requires Polish phone number) or NEXTBIKE app to rent these bikes.
